

Guided tours on the map of Vilanova i la Geltrú, a city ideal for walking.

3

A walk through la Geltrú

Leaving Plaça de la Vila \(1\) and walking down Carrer de la Fuita you stop at Plaça de Miró de Montgròs \(2\), where you are able to admire a stone and marble fountain, commemorative of the first supply of water into the town.

Continuing down Carrer de Santa Eulàlia, and where "la Pujada del Cirto" starts and finishes, you find the town boundary which separated what was once the original name for Vilanova de Cubelles and la Geltrú.

Walking down Carrer de la Unió, crossing over "el Torrent de la Pastera" (the Pastera flood-water canal), you see the physical division between the old populations of Vilanova and la Geltrú.

Continuing on down Carrer de la Bonaire, you reach Plaça dels Lledoners \(3\), one of the most beautiful spots in the neighbourhood of la Geltrú, where you also find one of the entrance gates to the old town; the "Den Balla" gateway, which began the trail leading down to Plaça de Sant Cristòfol, by the coast.

Further on down Carrer del Bonaire, is the house called "Del Bosser", (Royal Tax Collector), where, on the façade, you can see the engraving of a sheep with a bag.

1 ↓ Plaça de la Vila

2 ↓ Plaça de Miró de Montgròs

3 ↓ Plaça dels Lledoners

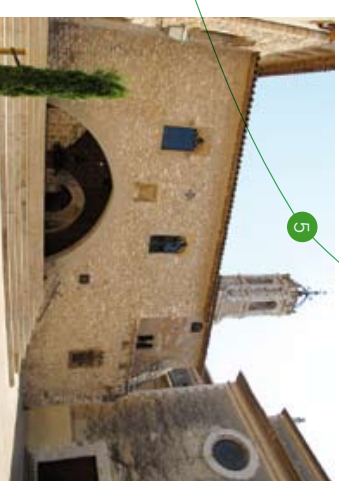

Continuing on until you arrive at the crossroads of Carrer del Ravalet with Carrer dels Aren-gaders \(4\), both go round the old wall leading down to la Geltrú castle \(5\), reconstructed over the old medieval castle foundations and currently occupied by the Regional Historic Archives. The church of Santa Maria de la Geltrú \(6\) which safeguards a beautiful polychrome wooden altarpiece dedicated to the Virgin's Assumption, dated 17th century, with decorative Baroque pieces.

6 ↓ The church of Santa Maria de la Geltrú

4 ↓ Carrer dels Aren-gaders

5 ↓ La Geltrú Castle